MAYSVILLE, KY., FRIDAY, MAY 21, 1897.

ONE CENT.

Eyesight

Is of such great value that one ought to take more than ordinary precautions to guard against every possible trouble.

If you have even a remote suspicion that there is any trouble with your eyes it will be for your own best interests to have your vision tested and trouble, if any, removed.

Very simple troubles may develop serious results if not properly treated.

Ordinary failing eyesight receives our most careful attention, both as to glasses and frames.

It's just as important to have the right frame as the right glass, and from our large stock we can give you the correct thing in either Gold, Silver or Steel.

We make no charge for examinations, and if you are a case requiring the services of an oculist we will frankly tell you so.

In less than five minutes after the train stopped Stouffe received his discharge by telegram, but was reinstated upon investigation.

Superintendent Gray last night caught a couple of boys amusing themselves by tying tin spoons, and in fact any old thing that would make a noise, to the street cars, and then closing the "frogs" of the switches with rocks. The latter is rather a dangerous piece of business, and Mr. Gray will today have the youngsters in the Police Court for trial.

Mrs. Ann Irvine of Rectortown, whose husband at the time of his death was master of a vessel, from 1864 to 1870 drew a pension from the British Government, from the Merchant Seamen's Fund. In 1870 she moved to this country, and her address being unknown, the pension was stopped. The matter was recently placed in the hands of Colonel F. B. Russell of Toledo, Ohio, who has succeeded in securing all the back pay, and a continuation of the original pension. Mrs. Irvine is the mother of Dr. J. F. Irvine of Toltoboro.

Amanda Kash, the colored woman who was arrested on the charge of "raising" copper cents to dimes by scraping quicksilver off a piece of looking glass and rubbing on the coin, giving it the appearance of a brand new ten cent piece, was yesterday morning before Judge Wadsworth, and held to the Circuit Court for counterfeiting in the sum of $100, and Miss Amanda is now in jail. Uncle Sam doesn't care how much cash she earns, but he'll attend to the making part of that business. Amanda will undoubtedly take a trip to Frankfort.

Pineapple's at Traxel's, 10 cents.

Malinda L. Bruce of Quincy, Lewis county, has been granted a pension.

Mrs. George Nicholson, who has relatives here, died at Ashland a few days since.

The Christian Church of Kentucky has decided to erect a $12,000 College Building at Paintsville.

Reuben W. McCormick of Fleming and Miss Sallie Endicott of Nicholas married Wednesday.

Lizzie Cooper has filed suit for divorce at Portsmouth from her husband, Peter Cooper. The couple were married at Vanceburg in July, 1870.

The gross earnings of the L. and N. for the second week of May were $774,020, an increase of $6,610 over the same period of 1896, of $33,760 over 1895, of $43,425 over 1894, but a loss of $34,715 compared with 1893.

Yesterday workmen were engaged in making some repairs to the building on East Third street belonging to Mr. R. H. Newell, when suddenly they began to feel queer, and one man was knocked ten feet by simply catching hold of the spouting.

Upon investigation it was found that the large feed wire of the streetcar line had dropped down upon the iron rod that is fastened to a swinging sign, and the building being covered with sheet-iron caused it to become highly charged with electricity. Superintendent Gray put up a pole and raised the wire this morning.

FUN FOR THE BOYS.

But Not Much For The Dog With A Quart Can on His Tail.

Mike Hedin, Joe Lawrence and Elmer Hoffman, three employes of the Maysville Carriage Company, have been bothered a great deal by a dog belonging to Councilman Heiler.

They determined to get rid of Mr. Dog, and the can route was selected.

Accordingly a quart measure was secured to its tail, a couple of large iron washers were placed inside the can in order that the spaniel might have something to keep up its spirits en route, and then they started the dog, which ran out of the shop, up Grave alley and into Mr. Heiler's store.

A warrant was gotten out for the young men's arrest, and after trial before Judge Wadsworth, he gave them a lecture and let them off, as that was the first time they had ever been in Court.

The penalty is from $10 to $100 fine, and we would advise the boys not to "can" any more dogs.

FIRST DAY'S SESSION.

The Program With Few Exceptions Gone Through With—Last Day.

The Covington District Epworth League Convention opened its first day's session in this city yesterday morning at 9 o'clock with a devotional service, followed by addresses and papers that were very interesting and showed that the Program Committee had formed a good order of exercise to be gone through with during the meeting.

The afternoon session was equally as interesting as that of the morning, while the services last night were exceedingly interesting.

After the Song service, the audience was entertained with an address by Rev. G. N. Jolly on "Good Citizenship," a song by the Juniors, an address by Rev. William Jones and one by Rev. Biven.

HIS WIFE MISSING.

John Hughes in Cincinnati Searching for Wife and Little Son.

John Hughes of this city called at police headquarters in Cincinnati Wednesday to ask the aid of the police in locating his wife and little son.

He said that he boarded a train at Maysville, intending to go to Augusta, where he was to join her.

After she had gone Hughes discovered that he was short of money, and proceeded to walk to Augusta, a distance of eighteen miles.

When he arrived there he learned that they remained on the train and went on through to Cincinnati.

Hughes remained there for a few days to assist the police in the search for his wife.

WE'RE FOR AMERICA! AMERICANS!

CARL SCHURZ has a spirited article in Harper's Weekly assailing Congress and the Administration on account of "the utter neglect with which the monetary problem is treated," says The Cincinnati Times-Star. One must infer from Mr. SCHURZ's tone of complaint that in his opinion confidence would have been already restored and a general business revival experienced if Congress had not touched the Tariff, but given attention solely to the currency question. He accuses the Republicans of "trifling" and goes on to say: "It cannot be too often repeated that a mere raise in the Tariff will be sufficient to restore to this country its business enterprise and prosperity are egregiously mistaken. They cannot have long enduring prosperity, whatever their Tariff, so long as that confidence which is necessary for the expansion of business enterprise is prevented from reviving by that threatened condition of our monetary system which of late years has so grievously distressed us."

The sneer at Protection, under which the country has prospered grandly in the past, was to be expected of a doctrinaire who always ignores facts to run counter to his theory. Let it pass without further comment. But Mr. SCHURZ, in his new zeal as a critic of the restored Republican party, strikes blindly and wildly, overlooking the central and vital fact that the currency reformer must wait upon fiscal reform. The first necessity is more revenue. The main purpose of the legislation which Congress was called in special session to enact is an increase of the revenue to meet public needs. Most of the revenue of the Government must continue to be raised at the custom houses and in imposing duties on imports. It is proposed to follow out the Republican economic idea—to so adjust the duties, on all schedules where it can be done, as to protect American industries and American labor. To stop deficits and put the Treasury once more on a sound basis is the great object of Republican desire at this time. Only by this means can the Government be enabled to pay as it goes; only by this means can the withdrawal of gold by the endless-chain process be prevented and the stability of the currency secured; only in this way can the currency reform which Mr. SCHURZ advocates be made possible. From the point of view of those who favor the retirement of greenbacks—and Mr. SCHURZ is one of the number—a revenue not only adequate for current expenses but large enough to create a surplus is an imperative necessity. Therefore, of all men, Mr. SCHURZ should be one of the last to growl at Congress for striving immediately to swell the receipts of the Government. Clear as the sun at noonday is the duty resting upon Congress and the Administration to first provide a greater revenue, without which the Government will continue to run behind, public confidence waver rather than strengthen, and "currency reform" remain a phrase as idle as the chatter of children.

Another feature of Mr. SCHURZ's assault on Congress and the President invites attention. He talks about "unfulfilled pledges"—of course referring to money reform. What shall be said of the fairness of a critic who before an Administration is three months old begins to carp at it for not having fulfilled what he considers to be the promises of the party in its platform? What shall be said of the candor and honesty of one who furiously attacks an Administration for failing to do what he knows is impossible to be done or even to be undertaken within two and one-half months after it began?

KENTUCKYDAY

Tennessee Centennial Has Set Apart May 24th.

KENTUCKIANS LIVING THERE.

Davy Crockett and Daniel Boone are always thought of when backwoodsmen of Kentucky and Tennessee are named. They were both typical men of that wild, frontier time, and although not common things, and typify a class common to both states. They, as men, however, do not resemble each other more than the states each adopted. Kentucky and Tennessee are almost twin-sisters; they have been called "first cousins," for the former was the child of North Carolina, while Kentucky was the well-beloved daughter of Virginia. From these two states came the hardy pioneers who at first sought hunting-grounds and then homes West of the Appalachian mountains, and who there found lands as rich and as beautiful as any on the wide globe. Daniel Boone was the typical pioneer of Kentucky, though he was born in Pennsylvania, and was reared in North Carolina. John Sevier was another typical pioneer of Tennessee, though born in Virginia. The first settlers in Tennessee came from Virginia through Cumberland Gap, though most of those who followed came from North Carolina, and the stream of immigration long continued to flow from the same source. Few foreigners have entered into the population of Tennessee, not more than one-fourth of the population of Kentucky has come from foreign-born immigrants, and nearly all of those foreigners and their descendants have remained in the cities on the Ohio river. The people of these two states are, therefore, nearly akin in origin, of nearly equal social condition, alike in tastes and belief, with almost the same laws and political institutions, and very similar in soil. Their homogeneity can be seen in many other things. During the great political struggles and contests ante bellum, they generally stood side by side, voting the same way. It is true their two great leaders, Clay and Jackson, were antagonists later, and had large followings; nevertheless, "Harry of the West" generally dominated in both states when there were National contests. Kentucky, Virginia and Tennessee were the three states of the Union that in 1860 cast their electoral votes for Bell and Everett, signifying thereby their love and veneration for the American Union. They have fought side by side in almost all the wars; against the Indians, Spaniards, Mexicans and Englishmen; the railroads interlace the two states; intimate legations, social, business similar in soil. Their homogeneity and religious characterize the population. It would be an interesting study to trace the crossing streams of immigration constantly flowing, and speculate on the debt and credit accounts. While Tennessee has contributed to Kentucky many notable families, Tennessee in turn is rich with Kentucky blood. They fill honorable stations throughout Tennessee, and have added much to the triumphs of her progress as a state. Among the many Kentuckians who are living in Nashville alone can be noted these:

Rev. J. O. Rust, Dr. A. A. Atchison, Dr. W. A. Atchison, Elwood Bryan, M. T. Bryan, Dr. C. S. Briggs, J. O. Barge, Z. H. Brown, Murray Brown, Colonel S. A. Chambliss, Dr. A. J. The following committee was appointed to meet the committee appointed by the Executive Committee of the Exposition Company and arrange a programme for Kentucky Day, and for the reception of visiting Kentuckians: M. T. Bryan, J. C. McReynolds, Allen G. Hall, W. D. Haggard, Z. H. Brown and W. A. Atchison. A meeting of ex-Kentuckians was held at the Chamber of Commerce Monday night for the purpose of organizing, to receive and entertain the Kentuckians who will come to the Centennial on Kentucky Day, May 24th.

Herman Just explained the object of the meeting, and on motion of M. T. Bryan, a committee was appointed to report a plan of organization. This committee was composed of M. T. Bryan, Dr. T. A. Atchison, Herman Just, John C. Kennedy and Dr. W. D. Haggard.

The committee presented the following report: "We recommend that a club composed of ex-Kentuckians be formed, to be known as the Kentucky Association of Tennessee. The object of the association shall be the fraternization of all Kentuckians and the cultivation of closer fraternal relations.

"This association shall have its headquarters in Nashville, and shall have the following officers, viz.: A. President, Vice-President, Secretary and Historian. The Secretary shall also act as Treasurer. These officers shall hold their office for one year from the date of their election, or until their successors are elected.

"This association shall hold its regular meetings on the first Monday of each month at 8 p. m., and may hold such special meetings as may be called by the President."

The election of officers resulted as follows: President—Dr. T. A. Atchison. Vice-President—Hon. M. T. Bryan. Secretary—J. C. McReynolds. Historian—Herman Just.

May 24th will be Kentucky Day at the Tennessee Centennial Exposition, and there should be an outpouring of our people on that occasion.

The importance of a good Republican in each Magisterial District is given by a vote today, and "Squire" W. H. Hook of the Eighth District has been found to be the right officer in the right place. He is a candidate for re-election and would appreciate your support.

The Best Remedy For Rheumatism.

From the Examiner (N. Y. Register). Mr. James Rowland of this village states that for twenty-five years his wife has been a sufferer from rheumatism. A few nights ago she was in such pain that she was nearly crazy. She sent Mr. Rowland for the doctor, but he had read of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and instead of going for the physician he went to the store and secured a bottle of it. His wife did not approve of Mr. Rowland's purchase at first, but nevertheless applied the Balm thoroughly and in an hour's time was able to go to sleep. She now applies it whenever she feels an ache or a pain and finds that it always gives relief. He says that this medicine which she has used ever did her so much good. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by J. Jas. Wood, Druggist.

FLOTSAM—JETSAM—LIGAN!

NEWS NOTES FROM NATURE'S GREAT HIGHWAY.

The Ohio continues to fall at all points. The Stanley went to Charleston last night.

The Sherley passed down last night from Pomeroy.

The Bonanza will pass down tonight from Pittsburgh.

The Hudson will pass down tonight from Pittsburgh.

The Percy Kelly, a tow-boat belonging to Brown's Line, broke a wheel on the shaft crank and blew a cylinder head out just as she was passing Dover Monday morning with a tow of empties. She took her tow over the river and left it and started to Pittsburgh to have the damage repaired.

The Keystone State passed up last night from Pittsburgh with an excellent start. She had on board the Windomast Club, a fashionable society organization of the Iron City. "Windomast" is a combination word, the "win" meaning winners, "dom" mothers, "dun" daughters and "dais" sisters. In a few weeks about 200 manufacturers propose a similar trip on this boat.

WILL WALK ON WATER

Wager Made on a 400 Mile Journey Down the Ohio.

Chicago Chronicle. Bob Cook, of Boston, who was born in America, Ga., doesn't claim to be amphibious, but he will walk on the water from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati. The distance is about 400 miles and a little hilly in spots, so some people say. A wager of $1,000 has been made that he can't accomplish this feat within fifteen days.

Cook was in the city yesterday on his way to New Orleans, where he will go into training on the surface of Lake Pontchartrain.

The shoes he wears are real water shoes four feet long, six inches wide and six inches deep, invented by himself. There are fins on either side of them, and there are fins on the bottom. When he takes a step forward with one foot the fins close; when he takes a step with the other foot the fins on the shoe remaining still are opened and form resistance to the water, preventing him from slipping backward. Cook will be followed down the Ohio by a launch and press boat. He says he will win.
